

Introduction

- Introduction

Introduction

Overview

1. The position window is used to mention the employee position in the company.
2. We can create multiple positions by using this window.

Business Case

1. In a company multiple employees are there ,for employees there are some departments are available.
2. In every department some positions are there , based on positions salary and work will differs.